

Conspiracy of Shadows

In a distant land of high mountains and dark forests, in a world where the forces of the Adversary and his minions of the dark void between heaven and earth seek constantly to corrupt men and rule over them, a small group of men have been falsely accused of murder, treason and sedition.

Now they must struggle to clear their names, avoid the hangman and expose the true evil that threatens to overwhelm their homeland.

Would you join them?

Conspiracy of Shadows is an American indie horror fantasy game that has been described as “X-Files meets Call of Cthulhu”. We are currently in the middle of a bi-weekly campaign with sessions being held on a Wednesday evening (currently in Streatham but location may vary).

If you are interested in joining the game there are session writeups at the following blog. You can read about previous sessions and leave a comment if you are interested:
